YOUR MUST DO’S IN CUBA’S CAPITAL.

When Cuba initially opened its doors to cruise travel, we knew this beguiling country was destined for Azamara guests. And Havana led the charge as a city that was primed for overnight stays in port.

Havana is one of life’s mysteries that feels out of reach yet homely at the same time; a confluence of bureaucratic tradition and an incredible cultural scene. This capital city possesses the ability to inspire us like nowhere else we have ever been—a true destination gem. Cars from the 1950s roaming the streets along the Malecón transport us back to a pre-social media time. But then Havana’s extraordinary visual art exhibits, many commenting on current societal issues, remind us that beneath the dated façade lies an inventive society of some of the friendliest people in the world.

Cuban café culture is on the rise, posing another opportunity to just ‘be’ for a moment, while sipping a cup of local coffee and reading a new book. Hemingway was one of the first to cement Havana as a storyteller’s paradise, and just walking around town, it’s easy to see why. Havana’s mix of Western architecture reflects the one hundred years preceding 1960, and each colorful building tells a story of its own—a story that’s perplexing, at times tragic, but always fascinating.

HAVANA, WE LOVE YOU, AND WE’RE GLAD TO BE PART OF YOUR NEXT CHAPTER.

Shop, snorkel, and soak up the sun in Key West as you prepare for the adventures that await you in Cuba. In Havana, the island’s magnificent capital city, don’t miss Museo de la Revolución, a national landmark that was once home to a long line of Cuban presidents. The building’s original designers and architects took style notes from other countries around the world. This foreign inspiration can most evidently be seen in the mirror-lined room known as Salón de los Espejos, which drew inspiration from Versailles’ famous Hall of Mirrors. Today, the museum showcases refined design elements with a generous helping of revolution propaganda and history. In fact, adjacent to the main staircase, you’ll find bullet holes from a 1957 attack. Outside of the entrance rests a piece of the former city wall and a SAU-100 tank used by Castro in the Bay of Pigs battle. These iconic historical artifacts are must-sees during your visit to Havana, and you won’t soon forget them on the short journey back to Miami.
