

Obidos, Land of Enchantment

Want to hear a story that will melt your heart? Today, we're headed to Obidos, a stunning whitewashed town dating back to immemorial times. In 1282, King Dennis gifted the medieval fortress to his bride Isabel on their wedding day. Today, this gem of a fortified town remains lovingly intact, with its narrow passageways and brightly colored bougainvillea spilling from the balconies above.

Join me for a journey into history and hear the secrets hidden behind the ancient castle walls. After exploring this treasure of a town, we'll travel deeper into the region, a land known for its fertile soil, sweet fruits and delicious wine.

We'll visit a winery where we'll wander through the vineyards, learning about the wine making process. Then, we'll sip and savor the local appellations paired with some light snacks.
